PERMITS FOR STREET STANDS. Apply for One If You Haven't Got One and

The police will probably not bother the owners of stoop line news stands and fruit stands by the enforcement of the law relating to street enombrances, provided the owners of the stands tie promptly with the Clerk of the Board of Mermen their application for permits. Alderman Olcott wrote to Commissioner Roosevelt anday as follows:

yesterday as follows:

DEAR STR: My attention has been called, by namerous constituents and by the newspapers, to the fact that just now the Police Hoard is strictly enforcing, for the first time, I think, nested the strong time for the sale of newspapers, periodicals, and fruit.

many years, the law regarding stands within the stoop lines for the sale of newspapers, perisdicals, and fruit.

As you are aware, the law of this State allows the Board of Aldermen to grant permits for the maintenance of such stands to citizens, provided the consent of the property owner or lessee he get obtained, but, generally through ignorance of the requirement that such permits shall be obtained from the Board of Aldermen, many of the owners of such stands have long maintained them throughout the city without obtaining permits, having only the consent of the property owners. The sudden enforcement of the law against those persons has worked great hardship, and temporarily suppressed the business of many worthy people. Men and women, whose families have subsisted from day to day upon the proceeds of their sales of newspapers or fruit, have had their stands suddenly edgred away by the police and their daily stock of commodities thus rendered unsalable and valueless for profit. Grocers and marketmen have also been greatly inconvenienced.

The remedy could easily be had by the Board of Aldermen immediately granting permits in the proper cases, were it not that our Board has aljourned until Aug. 6, so that, under our rules, these permits cannot be issued until the first Juesfay of September.

It is because of this fact that it seems to me that the present enforcement of this law is ill umed and unnecessarily audden.

Therefore take the liberty, in behalf of these constituents of mine and others similarly situated, and in behalf of a business which is a convenience to the public and is consented to and desired by the property owners affected, to ask whether the Board of Police will not modify its efforcement of the law by notifying the owners of existing unlicensed stands that they must remer them unless they obtain permits for the same from the Board of Aldermen within the first week of September next. Hespectfully yours,

A committee of newsdealers called on Acting an opportunity to get permits from the Board of Aldermen. The Acting Chief told them that the matter would be taken under consideration, the matter would be taken under consideration, and he intimated that where the stands were not encumbrances they would be permitted to remain if applications were filed. The blank applications for permits can be had at the office of the Clerk of the Hoard of Alderman, but only with the consent of the Alderman in whose district any stand is located. What law there is for that arrangement nobody knows—there is probably none. The consent of the own; of the building in front of which stands are streamler together with his affidavit that he is getting no consideration for the privilege. Each applicant must make an affidavit that he is a clissen.

GRAND CENTRAL STATION PLORIST ARRESTED. John Charlyulo, who has a six years' lease of the flower booth at the Grand Central Station, was notified to suspend business on Sunday. Supposing the order applied to the observance of the Sunday law, he obeyed, opening up again yesterday morning. Along came Officer Cono-van and arrested the florist, saying that flowers could not be sold from street stands. Chariyulo could not be sold from street stands. Chariyulo contends that his case cannot be reckoned under this ordinance: that his booth is inside the stoop line; that it was built under permission of the Building Bureau, and is the property of the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railway company. The company sustains the florist in this view, and has assured him substantial support and backing. Chariyulo will fight the matter in the courts.

CHIEF MURPHY'S SYSTEM.

Burglar in a Street Car.

Chief of Police Murphy of Jersey City severa onths ago began sending out policemen in the sarly hours of the morning to watch the street cars for burglars. He surmised that when a urglar made a successful raid he would not alk through the streets with his plunder. The est prudent thing for the burglar to do would to board a car and get to one of the ferries as edily and quietly as possible. A 5 A. M. yesess car at Thirteenth and Grove streets, and soked over the passengers. A small man with big bundle in front of him was sitting in

The policeman sat down alongside the amali man and engaged him in conversation. After riding about a block McGurk asked the man what he had in the bundle. The man, who afterward gave his name as Edward Davis, looked as if he considered the question impertinent. McGurk displayed his shield, and then Davis told him that the bundle contained cloth. He said that he was a tailor, with a shop at 57 Newark avenue, and that he was taking the cloth to the shop. McGurk knew that there was no such shop, and told Davis that he would lave to go to the police station.

"All right," said Davis, "but you haven't paid you fare yet; let me pay it." Thereupon he thrust his hand into his pocket, pulled out a big revolver, and placed the muzzle against McGurk's side, and, exclaiming, "I guess you won't take me to the station," pulled the trigger. The weapon missed fire. man and engaged him in conversation. After ours's side, and, exclaiming. It guess you won't take me to the station," pulled the trigger. The weapon missed fire.

McGurk, having been a handler of puglists before he became a policeman, grappled with Davis and disarmed him. The other passengers in the car became alarmed and made a rush for the doors. Louis Keileher, the car driver, and Matthew Todd, the conductor, jumped off, and, in about two minutes Davis and McGurk had the car all to themselves. The struggle was brief, McGurk grabbed Davis by the throat, bent him down to the floor, and choked all the fighting ambition out of him. Davis and his bundle were then taken to the Seventh street police station. The prisoner said he was 23 years old. He refused to tell where he lived. Capt Keily learned that he had stolen the bundle from a Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Halroad freight car. He had a set of burglar's tools.

Justice Potts fined Davis $10 for carrying con-cealed weapons, and committed him for the ac-tion of the Grand Jury for robbery. Chief Mur-phy complimented McGurk for his pluck.

Lawyer Van Ness's Bondswoman Suffers Again. John K. Van Ness, a lawyer, who formerly had an office at 196 Broadway, and who is under indictment for forgery in the second dagree, was not on hand when his case was sagree, was not on hand when his case was called in the General Sessions yesterday, and Recorder Goff ordered his bail forfeited. Van Sess was arrested in March, 1983, and Mary 90ses of 29s Ninth avenue gave bonds for him in $2,000. He did not appear on March 18, 1893, when his case was called, and Police Justice Ryan declared the bail forfeited. Mrs. 90ses went on his bond for $3,000 when he was rearrested, and now she will have to pay that amount.

John, 13 years old, and William, 11 years old, thetwo sons of John H. Midower, an engineer, of 531 West Forty-fourth street, have been of 53! West Forty-fourth attect, have been missing from their home since Saturday. They went to the free bath at the foot of West Fiftieth strest about 10 A. M., and left there about 10 colock. Louis, their 9-year-old brother, says he saw them soon after board a train on the Ninth avenue elevated railway at Thirty-fourth strest, but his parents don't put much faith in his story, as neither one of the missing boys had any money when they left home.

Neither of the boys had ever run away before. A general alarm was sent out for them from Police Headquarters yesterday.

Renaway Accidents at Long Branch. Long BRANCH, July 8.—The family of Walter LONG BRANCH, July S.—The family of Walter Shriver of New York, summering at Monmouth Beach were run into by a runaway team this aftersoon while driving in Broadway. The Shriver carriage was badly damaged. Mrs. P. The carriage collided with a delivery wagon and the two women were thrown out and bruised.

GOES TO LAW TO GET HER CHILD.

Mother Wants It. Grandmother's Got It and Won't Give It Up. Mrs. Minnie C. Phipps has obtained from Judge Stover of the Supreme Court a writ of habeas cornus for the purpose of compelling her mother, Mrs. Sarah M. Vedingberg, who resides at 2,355 Eighth avenue to produce her fiveyear-old child, Leon C. Ulrich, in court and show cause why the little fellow should not be returned to her custody.

Mrs. Phipps was the wife of Charles A. Ulrich, Mrs. Phipps was the wife of Charles A. Ulrich, now dead. Upon his death she was compelled to seek employment to support herself. She turned the child over to the care of her mother, agreeing to pay for the child's board. She paid the board of the child until Nov. 1, 1892, when she became very ill, and from that time for months she was unable to pay.

Mrs. Ulrich was married to George Phipps in 1892. She says that she is able to take care of the child now, but that her mother refuses to give the boy up to her. Mrs. Phipps says that the child's health is impaired, that he is ill treated, that his education is neglected, and that he is not cared for as a child of his years should be. She has ascertained that her mother and husband, William C. Vedingberg, who is a veteran of the war, intend to move to Dayton, O., where there is a soliders' home, and that they are going to take her child with them.

THE SAVINGS BANKS.

Why do you keep your money in a savings bank, getting but 3 or 4 per cent. Interest on it, and at the same time pay to tandlords in New York terribly high rents for a place in which to eat and sleep? It would be much cheaper for you to own your own home. It would be far healthler. The investment would be absolutely safe. The land and house would increase in value.

It is not likely that there will ever again be such a change, as you will have at the forced sais, which the trustee for the creditors of Erastus Wiman is compelled to make at Rosebank, Staten Island, on Mongary, July 15, at 1:30 P. M. Just think of It! This place is only 40 minutes from City Hall, New York, and you get there, not by going through diamal, smoky tunnels, but by a delightful sail over the upper bay, New York. Then you do not have to spend a fortune in railway fares, for the fare, including the southeast place is no popular that 897 houses have been built within a few hundred feet of these lots within the past four years.
